Car Transport Chassis Stabilizer

Mac's Custom Tie-Downs, Sagle, Id., introduces The Chassis Stabilizer, a tool specifically designed to stabilize vehicles while they're being towed to prevent unwanted chassis flex. The stabilizer supports cars, boats and other sensitive cargo to eliminate damage and wear while the trailer is on the road. Made of a high-strength proprietary rubber, the 1-3/4-inch profile of the deflated Stabilizer easily slides under the lowest of race cars and can then be inflated to support the most flexible point in the chassis. It requires just 20 pounds of pressure to reach 10 inches.

Mustang Custom Driveshafts

Dynotech Engineering Services, Troy, Mich., introduces a custom replacement driveshaft that is up to 55-percent lighter than stock for Ford Mustang applications. The Mustang driveshaft is a lightweight, one-piece replacement shaft for the OEM production two-piece unit. Available in steel or aluminum, the driveshaft is offered for 2005-'11 Mustangs, with fitments for the GT or GT500 application available. Dynotech can also build custom driveshafts for all pre-2005 Mustangs. They are offered in drawn-over mandrel (DOM) steel or 6061 aluminum.
