Miller Industries selects Mac's Tie Downs for wrecker line

By Jack Roberts
Published July, 06 2011

Miller Industries announced at the 2011 Florida Tow Show that custom Mac's Tie Downs will be available on a variety of different models in the Miller vehicle lineup. Mac's has created specialty versions of its famous Pro Packs™ to suit the needs of today's toughest towing situations.

Miller, known for its Vulcan, Chevron and Century lines of tow trucks, wreckers and roll-back flatbeds, is the premier builder of high-end vehicle transporters in North America. Tasked with transporting everything from priceless sports cars and exotics to heavy equipment on and off jobsites, Miller's roll back truck customers demand the most rugged, durable and dependable commercial towing equipment available. For that very reason, Miller has chosen Mac's Custom Tie-Downs' Pro Pack System for specialty vehicle transporters – due in part to Mac's dedication to premium quality, engineering and manufacturing on-site in Sagle, Idaho.
